

THOMAS COTÉ CONTROLLER

Reports from all Sections of Montreal Indicate That He Will Head the Poll

SUPERIOR QUALIFICATIONS FOR THE POST

Thomas Cote was the first to announce his candidature for the important position of Controller of Montreal.

Early in the year he prepared his programme for a clean, honest, progressive administration at the City Hall. Early in the year he began holding meetings and expounding his programme to the electors. He was from the first received with keen enthusiasm by the electors—his intelligent, straightforward, clean-cut views on civic administration appealing to the ratepayers. In all sections of the City he has had the same hearty reception, and until April 6th will continue to address the electors—three and four meetings a night.

Mr. Cote always arouses enthusiasm because he is one of the most distinguished public speakers in the Province.

MR. THOMAS COTE

HIS QUALIFICATIONS

Mr. Cote is a journalist by profession. He was born at Ste. Francois de Trois Pistoles, Quebec. In 1889 he graduated as Bachelor of Arts at Laval University. In 1893 he entered journalism under the late Hon. J. I. Tarte. Was editor of Le Progress, Windsor, Ont., and editor of L'Opinion Publique, Worcester, Mass.; was City Editor of La Patrie, Montreal, 1894.

In 1901 was Special Census Commissioner for the Dominion. In 1903 was appointed Secretary of the International Waterways Commission, doing valuable work for the country in co-operation with the chairman, the late Judge Mabee. In 1904 he was appointed Editor of La Presse, Montreal, and held that position till 1909, when he resigned to accept the appointment from the Dominion Government of one of the Canadian Commissioners at the Brussels Exposition. During his journalistic career he was honored by the newspaper men of Canada by being elected President of the Press Gallery at Ottawa. He is a member of the Montreal Board of Trade and the Chambre de Commerce. He, with Major Dodds, organized the 21st Field Battery, C.A., Montreal.

Mr. Cote is the author of "Trois Etudes" (1891) and of a work on "Mercier and His Times," (1907), soon to be published; he is a member of the Royal Society of Arts, London, Eng.

During his public career the Toronto Globe referred to him as "A MAN OF ENERGY, PERSEVERANCE AND ABILITY," and the Montreal Herald referred to him as "A Brilliant and Capable Journalist."

During the past 15 or 20 years Mr. Cote has occupied positions of great responsibility in the public affairs of Canada.

In 1901, as Census Commissioner, he had the administration of a Budget of $1,900,000, and the management of 9,000 Commissioners and enumerators. This great undertaking he carried through to the entire satisfaction of everyone, and without even the suggestion of graft. The Auditor-General of Canada had not a single criticism to make.

Men in authority thought so much of Mr. Cote's ability and integrity that in 1904 they offered him the position of Deputy Minister of Public Works, the greatest spending Department in the Government, with an annual Budget of over $70,000,000. If these political leaders with their great knowledge of men, thought Mr. Cote a capable administrator of $70,000,000, what would you think of his ability to administer Montreal's Budget of $12,000,000?

In 1905 Mr. Cote was offered and refused the joint Commission for Canada to the Liege Exhibition, and was shortly afterwards appointed Secretary of the International Waterways Commission, where he added greatly to his reputation as an able and honorable official. Ask any of the leading shipping men, and they will tell you of the important Canadian interests he protected in his Official Capacity.

In 1910, as Commissioner of Canada to the Brussels Exhibition, he again acquitted himself with credit, and further enhanced his reputation as an administrator.

In all of these important positions, as in every private capacity, Mr. Cote has always acquitted himself with credit, and shown a capacity that stamps him as a man of great administrative ability—the sort of man that Montreal needs as a Controller.

Needless to say, Mr. Cote has had many opportunities to get the best of Public Funds, but, to his credit, he emerged a poor man, and not only did he not enrich himself, but he saw to it that no one under his control made light of the public purse.

UNION HOUSE COMM. APPOINTMENTS MADE

It has not yet been decided whether the senior play will be repeated. If so it will be presented on Saturday evening, May 9th.

MEDICAL SOCIETY.

The Medical Society held their annual meeting on Friday, with the election of officers, but as the Daily was locked in the press on Friday afternoon, all interested will have to ask a medical student what happened.

THE CAMPUS

The Campus is a curious place. And has a high renown; It is mostly filled with students. Who go tramping up and down.

But this is a tale that no one knows. For 'twas told only to me; The Campus teems with elves and sprites That mortals can never see.

There's the Elf who leads us off to skate As soon as the clock strikes five. And the one in the library, we simply hate. For the memories he keeps alive.

There's the Sprite who carries men off to tea.

To the Windsor or Castle Blend; And on the way home can't make them see.

What they get for the money they spend.

There's an Elf who lives in the old "Arts" clock.

And when you're late he leaps. But when the lecturers talk and talk. The wretch, he simply creeps.

There's a fairy who lives in the R. Museum. And at night things come alive; Why, the people going home say that's no dream.

They've seen them on the drive.

There's one in the Science Building, too. And he makes the men inclined To look down on the shelves; I think they think we're blind.

There's one, of course, in the R.V.C., He's a frightfully lonesome sprite, dear me! Away from his brother elves.

Then, there's one for the Meds and one for Law.

The former they keep in acid. The second is made without a flaw; His immobile face is placid.

Now, I've told you about these sprites; That is, all that was told to me; And they dance through the Campus on starry nights.

C.O.T.C. TO HAVE SPRING TRAINING

Armory Will Become Temporary
Barracks—Field Practice and Military Discipline

The C. O. T. C. armory will be converted into barracks for four days after the exams are over. Spring field training will be the order of the day. The men will sleep and live in the armory. Training will commence on Tuesday evening, April 28th, and finish May 2nd.

Musketry practices will be held at the ranges as well as a sham battle, advance and retreat action and possibly a night attack. Military discipline will prevail as in regular camps. Twenty-five have already signified their intention of remaining for the spring training, and there is accommodation for ten more men.

APPLIED SCIENCE

The attention of members of the class of 1914 in the Faculty of Applied Science is called to the fact that the alumni of this faculty are organized. The main object of the organization is to keep the graduates in touch with one another, and with the alma mater. This is done chiefly by means of a publication, issued regularly, and known as the "Bulletin." It contains, among other things, news of the graduates, collected by the class secretaries, and otherwise, and always of the greatest interest; also notices of any innovations or changes in the work of the Faculty. The June number will contain, in addition, a list of corrections to the Applied Science portion of the "Directory of Graduates," recently issued by the Registrar (necessitated by the frequent changes of addresses required of engineers), together with the names and addresses of the members of the Class of 1914. The publications are sent to all graduates of the Faculty, who are earnestly requested to keep their correct addresses with the secretary, Nevil Norton Evans, '16, Macdonald Chemistry and Mining building.

EDITORIAL.

If the football season opens with a Varsity game and McGill is found to be without either coach or captain, let the President be no matter how capable, the season can well be expected to be disastrous. If the tennis team goes into a tournament, without leader or preconcerted plan the cup would travel westward before Christmas. The track team and the harrier team, uncoached, could not be asked to bring trophies to their proper resting-places. And so all the annual meetings of not only these societies but of the Students' Council, Union House Committee, Faculty Societies, Basketball, Boxing and Wrestling, and all the minor clubs will have been held within the next week.

And yet the Editor of the McGill Daily, the society with the most complicated organization in the college, has not yet been appointed. The football season does not open with the big match. A game with Varsity or Queens marks the climax of an entire series of hard practices. But the Daily each year should be a finished product from the first. It is indeed largely judged by its first appearance, as the Montreal Mail and Montreal Telegraph were judged through Canada by their initial numbers. These great papers started out with the editors announced long before the first issues fell from the presses, and their entire staffs were known to the profession months beforehand.

Surely the same opportunity ought to be given to the Daily. With its organization of sporting writers, literary writers, reporters of every various branch of student activity, and responsible heads of departments the membership of an efficient Daily staff is the hardest to collect and the most difficult to keep together of any society in McGill.

Yet, admittedly, on the efficiency of the Daily, depends much of the financial and a part of the social success of all the clubs. The return from large attendances at football, written up daily by an expert, and many votes of thanks passed in the minor clubs' attendance at which at all was made possible only by the capable assistance of the Daily are witness to this.

Now, the examinations bear down upon us. Day by day men are becoming harder to reach, and the nucleus of next year's staff is becoming harder to collect. The expiration of the Daily has meant that no man knows what work he is to take up next year and the editor when he shall be appointed, can be sure of no department being efficiently managed until he has laboriously gathered together a new staff, some weeks after the first Daily has been issued.

The time should long ago have elapsed when the editor at the first of the season must be office boy, reporter, editor, and editorial manager at once. It is not fair to the editor himself, the Daily, or to the big and little societies which the members of the Students' Council represent, and which would be greatly benefitted by organized help from the first, that next year's head should only be appointed the last week in April, when the graduate members of the staff cannot be reached and the undergraduate members are deeply engaged in work which precludes attention to matters outside study.

For the sake of the Daily of the societies of which they are the head, and of all student activities, let the Students' Council appoint an editor who can have the opportunity to start next year with a clean sheet. If the Daily is at all an up-to-date paper, stop making it start out as a one-man, or a half-dozen men sheet.

If it is proposed to inaugurate some new system why not give the director of the new system some opportunity to prove his ability and the value of the change? Why not give him the privilege of co-operating with a Daily whose organization is perfected? In any event why not make sure at once by enquiry in large newspaper offices, whether it is advisable to allow the present organization of the Daily to lapse while the new scheme is still in the Utopian stage?

The expression of these ideas thought reflecting on all those whom the case fits is essential to make plain to the members of the Students' Council and to Daily readers what is the veriest truism to any who have been a month on the Daily writing staff, or to one who has had a week's connection with a city paper.

One year ago, one man could start some sort of a paper. Last fall he could do so only with the assistance of a couple of friends. But next autumn the man with three assistants who tries to bring out an organized paper, in which every page is organized, will either resign in four weeks, or enter the hospital in the fifth. In either case the Students' Council will again have the problem of the students' organ on their hands.

For three years the last issue of the Daily has been used as a rod to be jammed into the wheels of Daily progress. The machine has rusted, and fallen apart into a one-man paper the following year. The new editor, not every time experienced in running the perfect machine, is told to take over a machine half broken down. The proper plan was to appoint an editor before the old one resigned, and allow the two to handle the lever together. One of a thousand technical things the new editor would have accomplished by now, would have been to visit the printing office select the type of heading to be used for next year, as that of this year has been declared too black and startling, and distributed samples among the reporters and editors for next year, with instructions how to use.

Every new Students' Council receives the heartiest good wishes for success from McGill electors, and it is not too early to hope that the Council elected when Volume Four is nearing completion will pursue the policy of making their year of office one of greatest opportunity for Daily success. Let the reporters and staff who regret at their last meeting the departure of the old editor, be able to welcome the arrival of the new, and to enter spontaneously into the making of plans for the following year.

UNIFORMS.

All C. O. T. C. uniforms must be returned to the Armory immediately.

Dr. Foster lectured on Mine Rescue Work before the Mining Society on Thursday evening. The officers for the ensuing session were elected.

COL. E. M. RENOUF.

Col. E. M. Renouf is the candidate for Alderman in St. Andrew Ward. Mr. Renouf is well and favorably known in this division. He is well qualified for the position for which his fellow-citizens have requested him to stand. He has the capacity of concealing and logically stating his views, which are important qualifications in any deliberative body. Mr. Renouf would undoubtedly make a worthy civic representative.

VOTE FOR ST. GEORGE

FOR CONTROLLER

Mr. St. George is the best candidate for Controller. His engineering standing is of the highest. He is a prominent member of the Canadian Society of Civil Engineers and of the Institution of Civil Engineers of Great Britain. He knows the city and the conditions at the City Hall as few living men do. He is eminently well qualified for this important office. He stands for clean, broadminded, fair administration. He should have your vote. Tell everybody about him. He has already served the city well in one important official position and is ready to do so again if elected Controller.

Mr. St. George's programme is as follows:

At the request and with the endorsement of leading citizens of all creeds, races and classes, I have accepted nomination for a seat on the Board of Control.

If elected, I shall devote my whole time and energy to the solution of the important problems that must be solved if Montreal is to become a city worthy of its present population and the enormous increase the future has in store provided its affairs are honestly and intelligently administered.

There are six problems of major importance. First, the water supply, which is far and away the most vital. At all hazards we must have a reliable supply of good water, without dependence on a conduit of questionable construction. Second, the drainage of the city, on which depends the health of its inhabitants, is vital. If "tubes" are to be constructed under the surface the whole drainage system may become deranged, with infinite danger to the public health. Third, the scavenging of the city should be done with cleanliness, system, regularity and thoroughness. For seven months of the year proper scavenging is a question of the highest importance. Fourth, a plan of the city, over and underground, should be immediately prepared, so that all pipe laying and other construction may be done intelligently, just as an architect builds on careful plans drawn to measurement. Fifth, the streets of Montreal are a reproach to the city, and their condition demands the consideration of a comprehensive scheme of improvement to which the Board of Control should give immediate attention. Sixth, the tramway question should be dealt with as if we were providing for a million people. There should be no over-crowding, which means that the Company must be forced to provide sufficient cars. Low fares, especially for the working men and women, must be a feature of any new arrangement and double fares must be abolished. I shall insist that no new franchise be given to the present Company or any other company until it proves that it is prepared to give the best service at the lowest cost to the city consistent with a fair return on the money invested, and will deem it imperative that the company should be put under bonds to carry out in good faith any arrangement arrived at.

We can have a beautiful city, a clean city, a healthy city, and intelligent civic administration as regards transportation, lighting, street paving, water supply, drainage, scavenging, can make it such a city. I am prepared to work to the very utmost of my ability to bring about the desired result if I am elected.

I shall not conduct a personal canvass or make platform speeches. If I am elected, let me say simply that I will give up all private practice and devote my whole time and energies to the business of the city. Only in that way can the present small Board of Control hope to accomplish all the vast amount of work which will be imposed upon it. I shall have no other irons in the fire—no masters to serve—save the citizens of Montreal. If I am elected I will do my duty, but if at the close of the poll it be found that the citizens have not agreed with the estimate which those who have so kindly asked me to run have put upon my services, then I shall have done my duty by making them the offer, and I shall continue in my private capacity with great content. In the meantime I beg to thank all those whose vast number—are promising their votes.

(Signed),

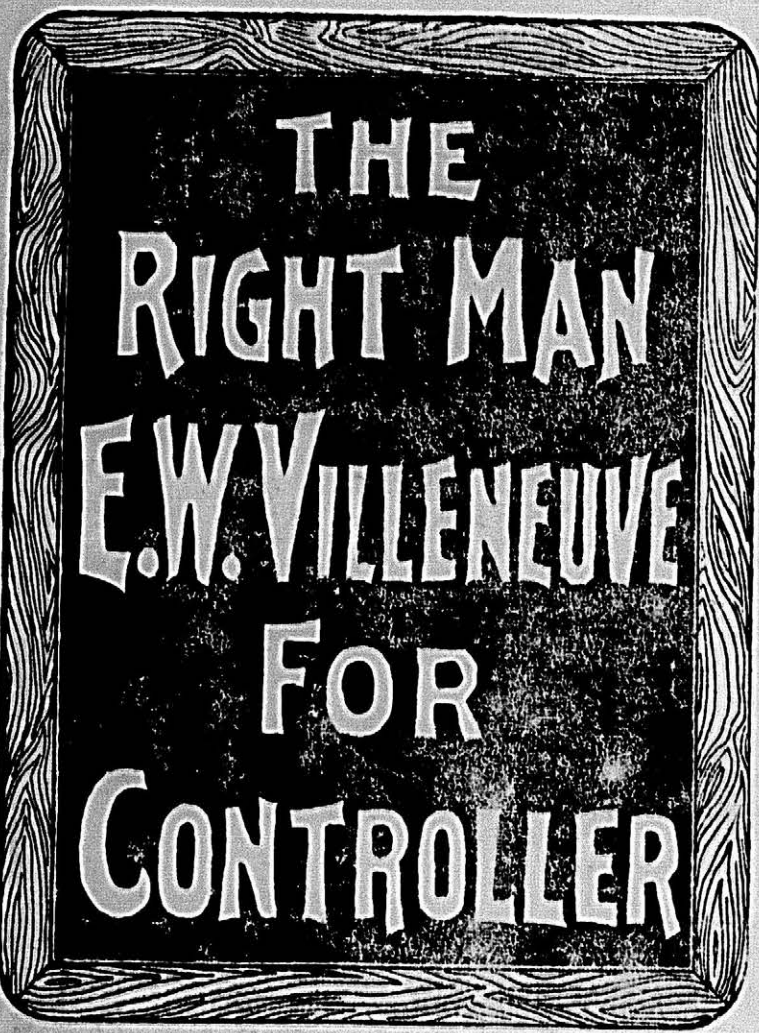

FERTIVAL W. ST. GEORGE.

CITIZENS' OPINIONS OF P. W. ST. GEORGE

From North, South, East and Centre of the City Comes Strong Support and Earnest Hopes for the Return of Mr. St. George as Controller.

R. A. Ross, K.C.

"We must have an expert engineer on our Board of Control. That cannot be emphasized too much," said Mr. R. A. Ross, the well-known consulting engineer. "I am more than pleased at Mr. St. George's candidature for the Board of Control and it is my greatest hope that he would eventually run for this position when his name was first mentioned for the Aldermanic field. What I said in favor of his candidature then, I repeat now and emphasize, for none is better fitted to direct the city departments than an engineer of the calibre of St. George. He has also an intimate knowledge of the detail of departmental work, gained from his years of service as City Surveyor. With these qualifications he would be an invaluable man on the Board of Control. His record for splendid work for the city is his best recommendation. Those who desire efficient city government should do their utmost to further the candidature of Mr. St. George for the Board of Control."

James Carruthers.

"I think P. W. St. George would make an admirable member of the Board of Control, and he is a man that I should like to see on any municipal body. His experience and technical ability make him a fitting representative for the people of Montreal. We don't want any more water famines, and St. George has the knowledge, the experience, and the backbone to see that whatever steps are necessary to prevent a repetition of the experience are taken as promptly and effectively as possible."

Henry Miles.

"What I said in favor of Mr. St. George for alderman I certainly repeat in support of his candidature for the Board of Control," said Mr. Henry Miles. "The experience Mr. St. George has would be invaluable in that capacity. His practical knowledge of the water and other city engineering problems would be of the greatest assistance to the Board and Council and a safeguard against the departmental incompetency which has been inflicting itself upon the citizens. I have known Mr. St. George personally for thirty years and have no doubt as to his fitness for a position on the Board of Control."

W. S. Maxwell.

"I think it most essential that there should be a man with engineering experience on the Board of Control. Mr. St. George has this; he also has had varied experience in municipal engineering and I heartily endorse his candidature. His knowledge of the disposition of the pipes and mains and sewers which now serve the city, and his familiarity with the Montreal problems of municipal engineering are too valuable assets to be overlooked in the present crisis."

Robert Archer.

"I hold both hands up for St. George. He is an excellent man."

J. R. Meeker.

"Most decidedly I approve of the candidature of P. W. St. George for the Board of Control. I will surely vote for him with both hands. As I said before, it may be embarrassing to some to have him in this position, but his great knowledge of civic affairs, especially from an engineering standpoint, is so extensive that he would be of great value to the city. We want to feel that there is some one on the Board of Control who is competent to take hold of the problems which are now confronting us, and solve them."

R. H. Bryson.

"I think Mr. St. George would make a very good Controller, and I will support him. We want the best men that can be induced to take office on the Board of Control, and Mr. St. George is certainly in this category."

W. B. Ramsay.

"The city could not get a better man as a Controller. His great experience coupled with undoubted ability, makes him all that could be desired. We all want an end put to conditions as they exist to-day as regards our water supply and other pressing problems, and the only way to accomplish this is by electing to the Board of Control and the City Council, men like Mr. St. George who have the knowledge, the experience and the will-power necessary."

W. B. Mathewson.

"I am delighted to hear that Mr. St. George is running for the Controllership. We cannot get a better man for the position, and I for one, feel sure that he will make an admirable controller. Anyway, he is the best man at present for the position, and he is well up on his job."

R. Meredith.

"By all means make Mr. St. George one of the Controllers. He is the one man who, as an engineer, has a profound knowledge of the city's requirements. He has also the other qualities which are necessary in an efficient executive officer. And we certainly could do with a little more energy and efficiency at the City Hall."

Walter J. Francis, C.E.

"I am heartily in favor of Mr. St. George for controllership. His varied knowledge of municipal affairs combined with his superior engineering ability should make him a very valuable man for the city. There are few engineers in Canada who share with him the distinction of membership in certain British engineering societies."

Joseph Fortier.

"It was with a great deal of satisfaction that I learned that Mr. St. George had decided to allow himself to be nominated. Now we must do the best. We must elect him by a plurality that will leave no doubt as to what the citizens think of him. I think that Mr. St. George has a better knowledge of the city's requirements than any man who has yet offered himself as a candidate."

J. A. Jamieson, C.E.

"I know that Mr. St. George would be an excellent man for the Board of Control. His long experience in civic affairs and his knowledge of the city and its wants should make him a most desirable man for the position. We all know something of what the Board of Control will have to do in the next few months in order to restore the fundamental services of the city—water, sewage, fire protection, etc.—to a normal status. Mr. St. George is just the man to take charge of this work."

R. S. Lea, C.E.

"Mr. St. George has all the qualifications needed by the man who should be on the Board of Control. He has shown that he knows his business and that is what Montreal wants to-day—business men."

Ex-Ald. E. Goff Penny.

"I do not think that a better man than Mr. St. George could be found for the office. He has the ripe experience and the technical knowledge which are so acutely needed in the administration of Montreal's affairs just at present."

Ex-Ald. James McBride.

"Mr. St. George undoubtedly is the man for the office. His wide experience would be of inestimable value. And if ever there was a time when this city needed all the experience and wisdom that could be put at its disposal, it would seem to be to-day."

Edward W. Parker.

"Mr. St. George will, I have no doubt, be returned at the head of the list. No better man could be found in the city of Montreal for the position of Controller. What we need is to have things done, and Mr. St. George has the reputation of doing things."

F. Wilson Fairman.

"I always thought Mr. St. George a very competent man, and one who should be in thorough touch with the workings of civic government, being an old employee of the city. In every way he is fitted for the position of a controllership, and his services should be particularly valuable at the present time when there are so many important questions to be dealt with."

Frederick B. Brown, M.Sc.

"Mr. St. George, in my opinion, is undoubtedly a man who will be of great value to the city. He has rich and varied experience in municipal matters. His engineering knowledge will also be of great use at this time, when so many problems of this nature are confronting the city of Montreal."

Robert W. Mullin.

"Mr. St. George's services will indeed be of inestimable value at the present time. He is making a sacrifice to the city that will not soon be forgotten, and we can look forward to better things from the Board of Control with him at the helm."

George Boyd.

"I look upon Mr. St. George as one of the best possible men for position. His great experience would be invaluable to the city. Without engineering skill, and the best of it, Montreal will keep in her present condition, and there is no telling where we will have to pay a big price for our policy of 'letting things slide.'"

F. H. Hopkins, C.E.

"I am very much in favor of Mr. St. George's candidature. His superior knowledge of civic matters should make him a most desirable man in the Board of Control. We should choose the best men available for such an important position and I believe that Mr. St. George will make the kind of Controller this city needs to reorganize its civic services."

John Barrett.

"I am absolutely convinced that Mr. St. George is just the kind of man we want. I hope his election may be sure and in no uncertain terms."

D. G. Cochrane.

"Bet all you've got. I ought to know. He's the man."

TWENTY MEN ARE WANTED

Twenty men are wanted to act as scrutineers in connection with the voting at the municipal elections next Monday. Applicants should see Mr. Melville, at the Students' Council office.

LAST WORD TO THE ELECTORS.

To the Electors of the City of Montreal:

Dear Sirs:

I regret that it has been impossible for me to meet all the electors in order that I might explain at closer range my reasons for asking for your support in the present Election, when so many questions of such vital importance and interest to the city are at issue.

I have endeavored, by holding public meetings throughout all parts of the city, to meet as many of you as possible. I did not have the means to carry on a campaign such as some of my wealthier opponents were able to do. I have endeavored, however, in a small way, to place both my record and my programme before you through the public press, and I trust that both will meet with your approval, and hope that you will agree with me that if carried out it would mean a regime of progress and betterment of the general conditions prevailing at the present time.

I have had the honor of residing in Montreal for over twenty-five years, during which I have been City Editor of "La Presse," Editor-in-Chief of "La Presse," and held other high administrative positions, all of which brought me into close contact with the city's affairs. I believe this experience qualifies me for the important office of Controller, and entitles me to ask you for your votes.

I wish to impress upon all the 134,000 electors the fact that if I am elected as one of the members of the Board of Control, I shall go to the City Hall neither as the representative of an association, nor as the servant of a corporation. If you do me the honor of electing me I will be the representative of no clique, faction, association or corporation, but will be the representative, at all times and on all occasions, of the people, who have honored me with a trust, and will endeavor to give my experience, such ability as I have, and the best that is in me to the administration of the city's affairs.

Regarding the granting of public utility franchises or the extension of existing ones, I repeat here, what I have stated since the beginning of my campaign, that, if elected, I shall at all times favor the submission of such question to the people by way of a straight, clear-cut referendum.

Believing, and hoping, that my candidature will meet with the approval and endorsement of the electors of Montreal,

I beg to remain,

Your faithful servant,

THOMAS COTE.

MR. E. W. VILLENEUVE.

Mr. E. W. Villeneuve, candidate for Controller, is so well and favorably known by the citizens of Montreal that little can be further said on his behalf which is not already known to the public. He possesses all the qualifications for the position of controller. He was first to inaugurate the campaign for Municipal Reform during the last Municipal Election. He stands for honest and good administration, and the city will be the gainer in securing his valuable services. E. W. Villeneuve is known and respected throughout the City of Montreal. Mr. Villeneuve is the son of the late ex-Mayor Villeneuve, whose public career was without a blemish.

Major George W. Stephens
Candidate for Mayoralty

I have lived all my life in Montreal, my family has lived here for three generations. All my interests are wrapped up in the City and its Future Progress.

Very serious problems are before the City for solution. Our municipal debt now reaches $80,000,000, the highest in North America with one exception, that of New York.

Unless we are able to stop the waste of money in public administration, our taxation must increase, for we have yet to pave 300 miles of streets, complete our water system, extend or re-model our sewage system, create new arteries of transportation, sanitary homes for the people, reduce the high cost of living, and create new avenues of usefulness wherein our fellow-citizens may take part in making Montreal a happier, healthier, handsomer city to live in.

I respectfully solicit your vote and influence in the hope that I may, if elected, render some services to my fellow-citizens.

LT.-COL. E. M. RENOUF.

Lt.-Col. E. M. Renouf

Lt.-Col. E. M. Renouf, who is a candidate for aldermanic honors in St. Andrew Ward, announces to The McGill Daily that he had declined the overtures of the Citizens' Association to become one of their candidates for the Board of Control. The following communication comprises his platform in the approaching aldermanic contest:—

"Having been invited by a large number of influential electors in all sections of St. Andrew Ward to present myself for election as your representative in the City Council,

"I now ask for your hearty support.

"Promises are difficult to keep so I make none.

"If elected I will endeavor

"(a) To lessen the frightful infantile death rate now existing, which is a shame and disgrace to our city.

"(b) To secure for every householder in Montreal a supply of fresh, untainted milk.

"(c) To provide cleaner streets and lanes, and more open air spaces for children's playgrounds.

"(d) To secure the adoption of more modern methods of removal and disposal of garbage.

"(e) To make impossible under any conditions a repetition of the recent water supply disaster.

"(f) To support all measures tending towards the improvement of public health.

AN IMPROVED TRAMWAY SERVICE

"(g) To secure an improved tramway service between the lower and upper sections of the city, and in particular the establishment of a belt-line running along St. Antoine and up Guy Streets.

"(h) To press forward to completion at the earliest possible date the widening of Guy street, now urgently required, for which the city received authority from the Legislature upwards of four years ago.

"(i) To provide a degree of police protection more nearly corresponding to the growth of the city in population and area, and in particular to establish A POLICE-WOMAN'S SERVICE in the interests of the women ENTERING OR RESIDING IN MONTREAL.

"(j) To secure for the city from the Legislature larger powers of control for its own local affairs.

"(k) To use my influence and my delegated power without fear or favor as a sacred trust for the best service of my fellow citizens.

"(l) I am in favor of a Board of Control for administration of the affairs of the city.

"(m) I am in favor of a tramways contract with the city being submitted to the electors for ratification."
